Lt. Gen. Charles P. Cabell,
Deputy Director, Central Intelligence Agency,
Washington, D. C.

Dear General Cabell:

At Don Dunford's retirement reception at Darmstadt last spring I mentioned the probability of my 1957 retirement and my interest in possible work thereafter with the Agency. You kindly suggested my coming by, if and when.

I now have the official Department notification that, pursuant to law with completion of 30 years of commissioned service, I am to be retired on 31 July 1957. I consider it wise to make such varied employment contacts as I can during the remaining months. Therefore I have in mind my filling out in the near future any application form that the Agency requires from those evidencing interest in employment, by way of "breaking the ice" and getting consideration over a substantial period of time before I leave Stuttgart.

I therefore would appreciate your placing this letter with the personnel people for such action as they care to take. Sherman Kent and Paul Boral would, I believe, recall me [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] an assignment of considerable sensitivity, but unfortunately in the midst of some Service-Agency jockeying.

With apologies for thus intruding upon you with this personal problem, but confident that you will understand and forgive, I remain,

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]
